

The Worst Idea of All Time Announces Fourth Season

Kiwi comedians revive their international smash hit podcast series for another 52 episodes

Thursday 22 November 2018: Guy Montgomery and Tim Batt swore to never return to their award-winning, global smash hit podcast The Worst Idea of All Time unless a sequel to Grown Ups 2 or Sex and The City 2 was made. The comedy duo have broken that promise. After Guy moved to New York City this year, the pair missed doing a show together so much that they've bought back their mind-numbing format of watching and reviewing the same movie 52 times in a row.

This fourth season, the pair will watch and review 2008's Sex and The City. 52 times.

"This was ill-advised and I immediately regret the decision" says Batt.

"I'm with stupid" announced Montgomery while pointing at Batt.

The Worst Idea of All Time launched in 2014 and over 3 seasons, has accrued over 10 million downloads. Year one saw the pair watch and review Adam Sandler's Grown Ups 2, followed by a year of weekly watches and reviews of Sex and The City 2. In the third season, Guy and Tim subjected themselves to weekly viewings of Zac Efron's WE ARE YOUR FRIENDS.

The fourth season does not yet have a launch date however will begin to be released in 2018.

ENDS

Contact

Tim Batt

littleempirepodcasts@gmail.com